ELABORATE PLANS MADE BY CHURCHES FOR THANKSGIVING

Following the dinner the children will indulge in games and other pastimes on the lawn of the mission.

SCHOFIELD BARRACKS.

Under the joint auspices of the three chaplains at Schofield Barracks, arrangements are being made for a program of speeches and music to be held at the post tomorrow in observance of Thanksgiving day. Among the speakers will be Admiral C. B. T.

Moore, U. S. N., and General Macomb, while Brigadier-General Funston will read the president's proclamation. The soldiers stationed at every army post on Oahu will be treated to a sumptuous feast tomorrow, and thousands of pounds of turkey and cranberries, to say nothing of vegetables, candy, nuts and the "trimmings" are being distributed today.

Y. M. C. A.

For the members of the Young Men's Christian Association and their friends a special Thanksgiving dinner will be served in the cafeteria beginning at 12 o'clock and another at 8 o'clock. There will be no services or entertainment in the building during the day.

Y. W. C. A.

A bounteous Thanksgiving dinner will be served the girls at the Young Women's Christian Association Homestead, King street, tomorrow at noon. In the evening an informal reception will be held and an impromptu program of vaudeville "stunts" will be arranged, while refreshments will be served at 8 o'clock.

PALAMA SETTLEMENT.

The Palama Settlement this year expects to give away Thanksgiving baskets to at least 50 needy families in the neighborhood, as well as their clothes and other necessities to those needing them. No entertainment or service will be held tomorrow, but on Friday evening the boys and girls of the settlement will be invited to a social in the gymnasium.

BERETANIA SETTLEMENT.

The Beretania Settlement is planning no special entertainment for this year, but has under investigation a number of families to whom will be given food and clothing. Mrs. Eljah McKenzie said yesterday that, after a trip through the neighborhood, she had come upon several needy families and these will be aided with food and clothing.

PUNAHOU PREPARATORY.

The pupils of the Punahou Preparatory School held their annual Thanksgiving exercises this morning in Charles R. Bishop hall. The purpose of this program was to give the students a better idea of what Thanksgiving means and the significance of the one day of the year which is set apart for thanksgiving. After the program the Junior Crusaders, a missionary organization composed of the students of the upper grades, saw to the distribution of the various gifts which had been brought to the school for the poor of the city. The following are the officers of the Crusaders: First Crusader, Lady, Kulumauu McWayne; First Crusader, Knight, William Noble; Purser, Carol Reid; Crusader, Council, Knights, Fred Peterson, Curtis Turner, Harold Harvey, Harlan Benner; Ladies, Elizabeth Hobdy, Helen Carter, May Gay, Ilma Woods.

CHRISTIAN SCIENTIST.

First Church of Christ, Scientist, will hold a Thanksgiving service at Odd Fellows building, Fort street, at 11 a. m. tomorrow, to which the public is cordially invited.

SALVATION ARMY.

It was reported this morning by Col. Blanche Cox that, following the usual order of business, the Salvation Army will do nothing this year in the way of a Thanksgiving celebration. The Army is now working on its plans for Christmas.

ASSOCIATED CHARITIES.

Perhaps the busiest place in Honolulu today is the Associated Charities, of which Mrs. Allee Jordan is manager, for load after load of food and clothes is being received at the office for distribution tomorrow to the needy families of Honolulu. Both schools and private families have responded to the association's call with a marked degree of generosity, and the 40 families now under the jurisdiction of the organization will be well provided with all the necessities of a happy Thanksgiving. Besides giving clothes and food to these families, the charities supplies them with sufficient money with which to purchase fresh meat.

CASTLE HOME.

As far as possible, the children at the Castle Home, Manoa, will go home to visit with their parents during Thanksgiving day, and those who do not will be treated to a big special dinner, the menu for which has been prepared by Miss Belle Johnson, the matron. A big turkey will grace the center of the board, and the feast will come to a conclusion with plenty of ice cream and candy.

KAIULANI HOME.

The girls at the Kaiulani home will attend the services at their respective churches tomorrow morning, and at noon a special Thanksgiving dinner will be served.

KAIKEOLANI HOSPITAL.

Thanksgiving is always one of the brightest days in the year at the Kaikeolani Children's hospital on Kua-kini street, for it is then that there are many visitors with pockets full of good things to eat. Those in charge of the hospital have spared no pains to make tomorrow a day of enjoyment for the little inmates, and a special turkey dinner is to be served at noon.

LEAHI HOME.

Through the kindness of Mrs. George R. Carter, the Leahi Home will be supplied with a sufficient number of turkeys to provide a big Thanksgiving dinner for the inmates of that institution. Ever since the organization of the home, Mrs. Carter has looked after the turkey end of the feast at this particular time of the year, while other friends of the institution have responded in an equally generous manner with other delicacies. The dinner will be held at noon, and during the afternoon the usual large number of callers is expected.

QUEEN'S HOSPITAL.

Aside from the usual Thanksgiving dinner for the nurses and the patients, there will be no special entertainment at the Queen's hospital tomorrow. It is expected that there will be a large number of visitors.

KAMEHAMEHA SCHOOLS.

The students of both the boys' and girls' schools at Kamehameha will attend special services in the chapel tomorrow morning, while the usual Thanksgiving dinner will be served at noon.

The 4th annual ball of the uniform rank of Knights of Pythias at their hall will be one of the important ante-Thanksgiving social affairs this evening. The grand march will begin at 8 o'clock. The hall has been tastefully decorated for the celebration and the members will attend in full regalia.

THINK NUUANU DAM MAY PROVE WATERPROOF NOW

Supt. J. W. Caldwell of the public works department and Supt. Joe Little of the water department are highly elated today. They believe they have discovered the great Nuuanu dam mystery, which gave former Supt. Marston Camubell so many sleepless nights. From the time the big water container below the pali was constructed until yesterday the project has been regarded by many citizens as a piece of monumental folly for the reason that it seemed it could not be made to hold water.

Caldwell and Little declare today the mysterious source of leakage has not only been found but has been caulked up, and that hereafter the dam will hold water in satisfactory volume. The leak, they say, was an old well shaft, which afforded an egress to a point below the rock, permitting the water to escape and disappear utterly at a rate of many thousands of gallons daily. The well was filled in yesterday, the final layers of earth being tamped down compactly in a manner intended to check all further seepage.

With all the smaller dams filled to the brim, the big dam holding 31½ feet and a gorgeous rainfall continuing today above big No. 4, they say the situation is well relieved, and anticipate no further difficulties from the water supply situation for many months. No. 4 has a capacity of 82 feet and the officials are inclined to believe now that if the coming rainy months will fill it the water will stay, thus providing against the dry months of next summer.

LOCAL AND GENERAL

The local Japanese newspapers report that the battleship Kongo will not make a tour of the Pacific coast as designated in dispatches recently received here. The Kongo is the latest addition to the Japanese fleet, having been built in England.

The Japanese department of St. Andrew's church will hold a social at their headquarters on Emma street tomorrow evening, beginning at 7:30 o'clock. All Japanese of the city who are interested in the work of the department are invited to be present.

The site for a factory for the manufacture of cocoa door mats and other articles from the fiber of the coconut, is soon to be selected in Honolulu by Alexander Z. Rothschild, according to a statement made by him this morning. Mr. Rothschild is one of the partners in a concern holding the patent of a machine which turns out the articles.

Francisco de la Barr, former minister of foreign affairs of Mexico, who now lives in France, is soon to be sent to Japan by the Mexican government to thank the former country for sending a warship to Mexico in 1910 during the celebration of the 100th anniversary of independence, according to mail advice received by the Hawaii-Japanese Daily Chronicle.

Police Notes

William H. Hoogs stated in the presence of District Magistrate Larnach and Prosecuting Attorney Brown this morning that he had no objections whatever to his Japanese house boy entertaining friends to any reasonable number at the family premises on Punahou street. Eighteen Japanese were arraigned at the district court upon a charge of gambling and also having been found upon the premises of another without lawful excuse. A raid of the servants' quarters at the Hoogs' residence was made by officers from Captain McDuffie's department on last Sunday. The officers claimed to have recovered a sum of money and dice at the time the arrests were made. Hoogs was called as a witness for the prosecution but under the questioning of Attorney Rawlins, who defended the Japanese, he stated that at present he had no desire to see a faithful servant punished and that there was no objection upon his part to the houseboy holding a reception for his friends.

The Japanese offered as their defense that they were not gambling but were engaged in the formation of a benevolent and protective association. The men were discharged at the conclusion of the hearing.

The Clarion

Bishop Henry Bond Restarick gave an interesting account of his recent trip to the mainland when he delivered an address in the Davies Memorial Hall last night, under the auspices of the Men's League, upon the subject, "Impressions of the Work of the Church in the United States With Special Reference to the General Convention." The great triennial convention of the Episcopal churches of the United States, which was held in New York in August, formed the basis of the address, and was made more interesting from the fact that the bishop attended as delegate from Honolulu. About 50 persons were present.
